City Council Offers $5,000 For Easement

Circleville City Council Tuesday voted to offer Robert S. Elsea, 1257 N. Court St., $5,000 for an easement to run the northend storm sewer through his property.

The action came after Councilman Joseph Bell reported that appraisers appointed by Elsea and by council failed to reach an agreement on a price for the easement.

The appraisers appointed by the city set the price at $4,500. The appraiser appointed by Elsea valued the easement at $8,000.

City Solicitor Kenneth Robbins told council that if Elsea would not accept the $5,000 offer, the action should be placed in court where a jury would decide the value of the easement.

THE northend sewer district was initiated about four years ago, but work has never been completed because Elsea and Council could not come to terms.

When Bell made the motion to offer the $5,000 to Elsea, he included the stipulation that the offer should be made with no concessions.

Robbins pointed out that after the ditch was dug and the sewer installed, the property would have to be restored and the city would have to repair all damages.

Councilman Robert Turner suggested the city should be prepared to listen to any requests Elsea might have for concessions, but his suggestion was overruled.

A burning ordinance was held for a third reading after lengthy debate in council.

The ordinance is modeled after one used by the city of Athens. It was proposed because officials say the present

Murder Suspect Arrested Here

Quick thinking by City Patrolman R. E. Anderson Tuesday led to the apprehension of a man wanted by Chattanooga, Tenn., authorities on a charge of first-degree murder.

Anderson observed a 1956 Mercury with a Tennessee license tag turning on to Pontius Lane. He recalled that a warrant had been received at headquarters for a man driving a car with this license number.

Upon returning to headquarters Anderson found that the man's name was John H. Pernel, alias, John H. Golden of Dayton. He was wanted for the slaying of his wife.

Pt. Anderson and Pt. Hawks of the City Police, Deputies Linder, Lockard, Woodward, Wolfe and Straley of the Sheriff's Dept. and Cpl. D. A. Aller and Pt. Howard of the Highway Patrol then proceeded to a house trailer on Pontius Lane north of G&R Motor Sales owned by Pernel's mother.

Officers surrounded the trailer and Pernel came to the front door. Police said he produced a photocopy of a release from the Federal Court in Dayton for a hearing on a fugitive warrant.

Temporarily accepting the release, all units left the scene and Deputy Linder contacted Chattanooga authorities to check Pernel's story.

Officials in Tennessee advised the Sheriff's Dept. to apprehend the subject on a warrant that they held in Chattanooga. The warrant was never

Dems Press For Raised Debt Ceiling

GOP Opposed As Means To Cut LBJ's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are stressing uncertainties raised by the Middle East war as they press for House acceptance of a $29 billion boost in the national debt ceiling — biggest proposed single jump since World War II.

Republicans have called for defeat of the proposed new $365-billion borrowing limit, saying congressional rejection would force President Johnson to trim his budget.

As the House debate opened today on the debt ceiling measure, GOP leaders also saw defeat of the administration measure as a way to force Johnson to present the tax hike proposal he has mentioned but hasn't submitted to Congress.

The economy's sluggish pace and the House Ways and Means Committee's heavy work schedule were cited by government officials as causing the delay in presentation of Johnson's proposed six per cent surtax on private and corporate income.

But sources said the request for a tax boost will be sent to Congress in plenty of time for the Ways and Means Committee — originator in Congress of all tax legislation — to consider it.

The Israeli-Arab fighting was mentioned repeatedly Tuesday as the House Rules Committee debated, and then cleared for action today, the bill setting the new ceiling.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee argued a $29-billion deficit is possible, though not likely, on the basis of Vietnam costs and fiscal possibilities. What additional demands the Middle East fighting may generate, he added, cannot even be guessed now.

In addition to giving the Treasury more borrowing power to cover continuing deficits, the bill would make a limited change in interest ceilings to facilitate the sale of certain government securities.

Under present law, government bonds with maturities longer than five years may not be sold at higher than 4½ per cent interest. Notes which mature in shorter intervals are not so limited.

The bill would redefine notes as securities with maturities up to seven years.

Wayne L. Hays Proposes Swap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, noting Israel's reported military successes against its Arab foes, proposed a baseball-style U.S.-Israel trade.

"I think we ought to offer Israel 400 F111 airplanes for that one-eyed general," the Ohio Democrat told the House Tuesday, referring to Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israel's defense minister.

"Maybe he could take care of things in Vietnam the way he's doing in the Middle East," Hays said.

U.S. May Avoid Military Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.N. Security Council call for a cease-fire in the Middle East strengthened the possibility today that the United States can avoid military involvement in the Arab-Israeli war.

It also contributes to prospects the war may be contained in that area and that a U.S.-Soviet military confrontation there will not develop.

Overcoming these two perils has appeared a major objective of President Johnson since the war broke out unexpectedly Monday morning. This objective lay behind the statement of a neutral policy first made at the State Department a few hours after the fighting started. It also guided later efforts to back away from the neutrality idea without actually abandoning it.

There has been concern here that if the conflict continued too long or if it began to turn out badly for Israel the pressures on the United States to give Israel some kind of military assistance would become very great.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser has talked about destroying Israel completely. It has never been suggested that Israel could destroy the Arab states, however, and Israel has said it seeks to annex no new territory.

The debate over neutrality which arose here Monday obscured rather than clarified U.S. policy toward the conflict. In part this seems to have resulted from official explanations at a time when officials wished to avoid getting pinned down to any course of action other than President Johnson's chosen way through the United Nations.

The first comment from a State Department spokesman that the United States was following a "neutral" policy reportedly brought protests to the administration from people who feared for the safety and support of Israel. Then the White House refused either to support or disavow what the State Department said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Republican Congressional Committee accused Democrats in Congress today of having aided the Egyptian war effort by providing U.S. wheat to Egypt in 1965.

In a statement, the committee said Republicans tried to cut off sales of farm commodities to Egypt in 1965 but were snowed under by Democratic votes.

"Without question, Egypt's war potential was helped by U.S. wheat shipments approved by the Democratic-controlled Congress in 1965 over Republican opposition," the committee said.

Now, more recently, Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser has indicated that he doesn't plan to pay us for this wheat — which means Congress has put the United States in the position of furnishing Nasser with food supplies and, at the same time, sticking the taxpayers with a bad debt."

While the House committee criticized Congress, other Republicans were grumbling over administration actions in the Middle East crisis, and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., called for congressional review of State Department planning.

Ted Lewis Park Streets Named by City Councilmen

An ordinance naming the streets and designating direction of travel in Ted Lewis Park was approved by City Council Tuesday after its second reading.

The continuous street that edges the park on the north and west and bisects the park on the south was named Recreation Road.

The north-south street through the park was named Picnic Ave. Motor traffic on Picnic Ave. is limited from a north to south direction, as a result of the meeting.

Passage of the ordinance was urged by the City Park Board and by City Police.

POLICE Chief Robert Temple had told councilmen and park officials that traffic laws could not be enforced until the streets were named and dedicated to the city.

After its first reading last night, an ordinance to authorize the safety director to advertise for bids for the purchase of a new police cruiser was approved.

The bids are to be determined on the basis of a trade-in allowance for a 1966 police cruiser now owned by the city and in the use of the police department.

Gulf of Aqaba Blockade Now Almost Broken

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli forces, apparently running roughshod over the Egyptian army, announced today the capture of the strategic Sharm el Sheikh heights overlooking the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba—in effect breaking Gamal Abdel Nasser's blockade.

They reported also an advance to a point 20 miles from the Suez Canal.

On the northern front, Jordan sought a cease-fire as an echo to the Israelis' capture of Old Jerusalem.

The twin Israel advances in Egypt placed their armies almost at the identical points they won during the 1956 war with Egypt.

Egyptian occupation of Sharm el Sheikh was the flashpoint of this war, now in its third day. At the head of the Gulf of Aqaba lies Elath.

To reach Sharm el Sheikh, Israeli forces had to race more than 125 miles down the Sinai Peninsula.

Cairo radio reported an announcement by the Egyptian High Command that forces at Sharm el Sheikh "have rejoined our main forces in the defensive positions in Sinai."

An Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv said an armored column bearing along Egypt's coast had overrun Rumana in an advance of more than 100 miles since the drive began two days ago. This not only put the Israelis 20 miles from the Suez Canal but they were in a position to move on Port Said, at the head of the canal 30 miles to the northwest.

Jordan's government in Amman reported the decision to seek a cease-fire with Israel was made after consultation with the Arab joint command, which Egypt heads. Syria and Egypt maintained they would continue the fight.

Tuesday night the U.N. Security Council unanimously requested that all parties cease fire. It made no stipulations on disposition of territory that has change hands this week. Israel told the council that Gamal Abdel Nasser's threat to annihilate Israel "now lies in ruins," and that Israel has passed "from serious danger to successful resistance."

Cairo admitted today that its troops had fallen back before the Israeli drive toward the canal, but there was no indication of the extent of the withdrawal.

Israel's radio said two tank columns were racing toward the canal along two paved highways—the main road through the Sinai.

Troop Search For Fugitives Is Called Off

CANJILON, N.M. (AP) — National Guard troops called off today their search for a band of Spanish-American fugitives in the rugged northern New Mexico mountains.

State Police Chief Joe Black said 25 of his officers would remain in the area, but the nearly 400 National Guard troops and other officers were being sent home.

The some 30 fugitives fled into the Carson National Forest near Canjilon Monday after raiding a rural courthouse, wounding two officers and holding several persons hostage.

Black said he believed some of the group's leaders still were hiding in the forested hills and canyons, but that others might have slipped through police lines.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The American Legion and its auxiliary announced plans today for the annual Boys State, to open at Ohio University in Athens Thursday, and Girls State to open Saturday, June 17 at Capital University in Columbus.

It will be the 30th edition of Boys State, the ninth consecutive year the program has been held on the Ohio University campus.

Two ordinances appropriating money were passed by council. One appropriation ordinance was for the sum of $15,000 to be credited to the major street reconstruction fund.

The second ordinance appropriated $8,000 from the unappropriated monies credited to street construction, maintenance and repair and credited the sum to the major street reconstruction by contract fund.

AN ORDINANCE written by Kenneth Robbins, city solicitor, at the request of Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb to transfer $700 from the court's workhouse contract fund to the furniture and equipment fund was held to a first reading.

Judge Lamb made the request to have funds to remodel his office. In presenting the ordinance, Robbins noted that the city had no contract with the Cincinnati Workhouse and the money would be unused in the fund.

City Service Director Harlow Arledge noted that a painting and remodeling project of the city building had been halted until the roof of the Fire Department was repaired.

Arledge told council the judge's office needed repair.

Mentally Ill Local Care Is Considered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A widely supported bill providing for more local treatment of the mentally ill and less of it at state hospitals has started to move through the Ohio General Assembly.

Rep. Charles Fry's Government Operations Committee heard glowing endorsements of the plan Tuesday night and then was told the committee might act on it next week.

Fry R-9 Clark named a subcommittee to work out "a few problems" with the measure and said amendments on financing and other areas would be taken under consideration.

Rep. Robert L. Wilhelm R-2 Van Wert was named subcommittee chairman while Reps. Joseph R. Kainrad D-35 Portage and Robert G. Jones R-62 Columbus were appointed members.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, led off an impressive list of witnesses who said the measure would improve what he called "already the finest community mental health programs in the nation."

Janis explained the measure which could.

—Permit county commissioners authority over mental health programs and facilities.

—Permit mental health and retardation centers in counties or groups of counties of 50,000 or more population (the diagrams in counties with less than 50,000.).

—Allow county commissioners to appropriate funds for programs and facilities.

—Provide for state participation on the basis of 75 per cent of cost estimated at $10 million over the initial two-year period.

—Permit county commissioners to declare by resolution the need to levy taxes outside the 10-mill limitation for mental health and retardation programs.

Janis told the committee that the bill represents "the only vehicle" for local communities to take advantage of federal "seed" money available both for construction and staffing of local centers.

The director explained that the federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost of a new program the first year, then reduces this amount 15 per cent in each of the next five years until the subsidy is discontinued.

Mentally Ill Local Care Is Considered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A widely supported bill providing for more local treatment of the mentally ill and less of it at state hospitals has started to move through the Ohio General Assembly.

Rep. Charles Fry's Government Operations Committee heard glowing endorsements of the plan Tuesday night and then was told the committee might act on it next week.

Fry R-9 Clark named a subcommittee to work out "a few problems" with the measure and said amendments on financing and other areas would be taken under consideration.

Rep. Robert L. Wilhelm R-2 Van Wert was named subcommittee chairman while Reps. Joseph R. Kainrad D-35 Portage and Robert G. Jones R-62 Columbus were appointed members.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, led off an impressive list of witnesses who said the measure would improve what he called "already the finest community mental health programs in the nation."

Janis explained the measure which could.

—Permit county commissioners authority over mental health programs and facilities.

—Permit mental health and retardation centers in counties or groups of counties of 50,000 or more population (the diagrams in counties with less than 50,000.).

—Allow county commissioners to appropriate funds for programs and facilities.

—Provide for state participation on the basis of 75 per cent of cost estimated at $10 million over the initial two-year period.

—Permit county commissioners to declare by resolution the need to levy taxes outside the 10-mill limitation for mental health and retardation programs.

Janis told the committee that the bill represents "the only vehicle" for local communities to take advantage of federal "seed" money available both for construction and staffing of local centers.

The director explained that the federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost of a new program the first year, then reduces this amount 15 per cent in each of the next five years until the subsidy is discontinued.

Increasing the Handicap

The latest maneuver of the attorney for Richard Speck, convicted murderer of eight Chicago nurses, may do him no good at all. But it is likely to harm and discourage a group of people who already have too many troubles — epileptics.

Speck's attorney has asked for an examination of his client for signs of epilepsy or latent epilepsy. He says the request came from a group of doctors at Bellevue Hospital in New York, and that if such signs are discovered, the fact might be a mitigating circumstance in Speck's sentencing.

This seems positively medieval, harking back to all the ancient prejudices against epileptics. It is only in recent years that sufferers have banded together to convince the public that they are not dangerous, and are capable of carrying out the activities of normal life. They've had to fight laws forbidding their marriage, and prejudices that make it difficult to find jobs, or make them an object of senseless fear.

Epileptics suffer a handicap ranging from very slight to serious. But like other handicapped people, they deserve the chance to live their lives as fully as possible.

What kind of doctors would willfully try to destroy all the progress in understanding that has been made, by implying that epilepsy could be a factor in such a gruesome crime?

What To Do on Rainy Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "What'll I do?" children often ask on a rainy day.

They are in a funk. Their powers of invention and imagination have deserted them, leaving them desperately bored.

Grownups, too, sometimes find themselves in the same plight. Monotony turns their lives into one long, rainy day, and they don't quite know what to do with themselves.

This is ironically sad, for, of course, there are many wonderful things worth doing if they'd just turn on their brain power and think a bit. Why not, for example, take a vacation and try to make a few of the forgotten daydreams of their youth come true?

Here is a guide list of possible goals, built around the mental escapes of many an office swivel chair daydreamer:

Buy an ugly, discarded thoroughbred foal with a group of pals and see if you can't turn

him into a Kentucky Derby winner.

Take up karate and see what happens, after a month of training, when you try to break a brick with the side of your hand.

Write Lyndon Johnson and ask him point-blank either to invite you to a White House dinner or declare publicly that you are a social disaster area.

Get out all of the Christmas gift neckties you've hidden in your closet for the last 25 years and have them converted into a sports shirt. You'll be amazed at how the girls at the beach will go for you.

Build a better mousetrap and see how long it will take for the world to beat a path to your door. If that doesn't get any results, build a do-it-yourself love nest and see what happens.

Carry a St. Bernard dog up the steps of the Washington Monument on the Fourth of July. It has never been done, and you should hit every front page in the country.

Become the first fellow in your neighborhood to drive around your local supermarket in a motorized shopping cart.

Swim the English channel underwater. Anybody, of course, can now do it on the surface.

Paint a picture by using your cat's tail as a brush and offer it for exhibit in a dozen modern-art galleries. At least six should be willing to show it.

Go over Niagara Falls in a pontoon-equipped baby buggy. Nobody has tried it all spring.

Memorize the first 12 pages of the Encyclopedia Britannica. You can win a lot of bets by reciting them verbatim at cocktail parties.

Borrow your neighbor's all-purpose credit card, then run away with his wife. He may let you use the credit card forever if you promise not to bring back his wife.

Boredom? There's no reason for anybody to let his life become humdrum. All you need is the courage to turn your daydreams into reality.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil now accounts for half the volume of all international seaborne trade, and so the Arab-Israeli war and the Suez Canal closing have their immediate effect on world business as well as diplomacy.

The situation is far different, however, from that of 1956, when the canal also was closed and the pipeline flow blocked.

Over a short period of time, the world is less vulnerable to a shutoff in supply because oil now is produced in areas thought barren a decade or so ago.

But over a long period the tremendous increase in world demand may offset this. Without question the world needs the oil of the Middle East, where the largest reserves are situated and the greatest production increases are being made.

There is another aspect to the problem, though. The Middle East is equally dependent on oil — the export of it. In the event of a general stoppage of the oil flow, the critical question is this: Who can hold out longer, the supplier or the user? It is one of the few factors similar to 1956.

The biggest changes in the past decade are in the increased demand, from both developed and underdeveloped nations, in transportation and in the discovery and exploitation of reserve on all continents.

As a result, Western Europe actually gets a smaller percentage of her oil through the Suez now than 10 years ago, even though its needs have increased by millions of barrels a day.

Consider just two changes: Ten years ago Libya, which is an Arab state west of the canal, was a negligible producer. Now it is the world's sixth largest producer and a big exporter to Europe.

Ten years ago a sizeable tanker weighed 15,000 tons. Today a big tanker weighs 50,000 to 100,000 tons and may be even larger in a few instances. These ships can sail profitably around the southern tip of Africa rather than through Suez.

In addition, the world's need to squeeze more energy out of the land has led to development of new sources. Nigeria is now a big producer. Australia is exploring. Indonesian production likely will increase. Canada's production has doubled in this decade. And production in the United States rose last year by 6.7 per cent.

But the increase in demand has exceeded forecasts. Developed nations, whose markets were thought to be thoroughly exploited, still demand increasing amounts each year. And underdeveloped nations now see oil as assuring their future.

As a result, last year the world used more than two million barrels a day more than in 1965, and the rate of expansion in demand was greater in the first quarter this year than ever before. The non-Communist world now uses 32 million barrels a day, twice that of 10 years ago.

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

David Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verneal Thomas, 526 E. Union St., was elected president of the EUB Church South-east District Youth Fellowship.

General Curtis LeMay delivered the commencement address at OSU graduation exercises where ten Pickaway County students received degrees.

Steve Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Spicer, 133 W. High St., attended an Art Workshop at Ohio State University's School of Fine and Applied Arts.

TEN YEARS AGO

Plans for building a swimming pool in Circleville hit a snag when Ludwig Haecher, chairman of the city zoning and planning commission, said it would need more legal action.

Larry Hines and George Bowling received State Farmer degrees at the convention of the Ohio Assn. of FFA in Columbus.

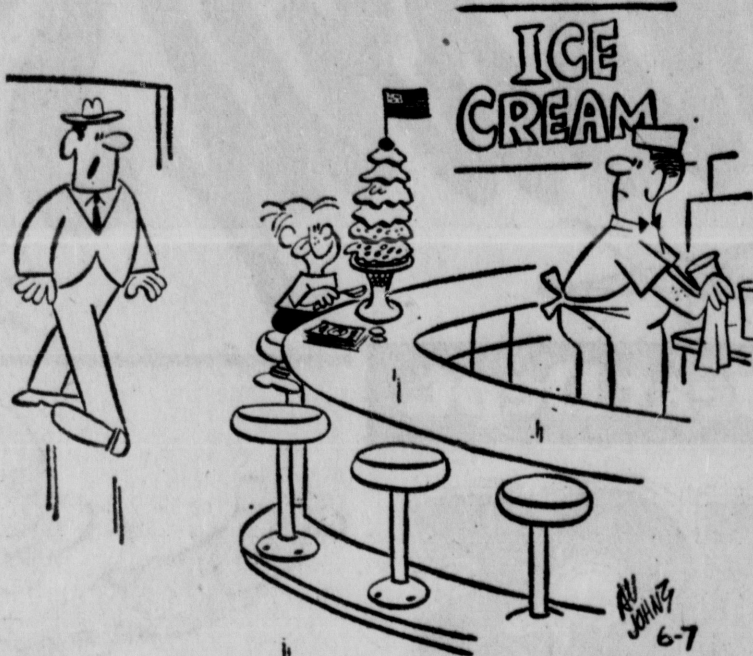

Mrs. Paul Jackson was installed as president of the Circleville Junior Women's Club.

Earl Smith, Pickaway County chairman for the promotion and sales of War Bonds and Stamps, announced that the county had exceeded its quota by $10,000.

Jim Moorehead, Circleville High School athlete, was in Cincinnati trying out as a pitcher for the Reds baseball team.

Walter Leist, a student at CHS, was one of the boys selected to attend Boys' State at Ohio Wesleyan University.

Laff-A-Day

DURING THE RECENT triumphant revival of "Annie Get Your Gun," the star, sharp-shooting Ethel Merman, got around to the scene where she fires a rifle into the air and a bird is supposed to plop down upon the stage. This time she pressed the trigger of her rifle—and nothing happened. Ditto on a second attempt. The trigger was jammed. As she lowered her rifle, the bird suddenly dropped onto the stage. It takes more than that, however, to nonplus a gal like La Merman. She picked up the bird, held it out to the enthralled audience, and exclaimed, "Well, whaddya know? APOPLEXY!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Can a vitamin deficiency cause repeated styes of the eyelids?

A vitamin deficiency is rarely, if ever, the single cause of styes. There may be some relationship between the frequency and duration of styes and a general picture of malnutrition. Styes do occur more often in those people whose health is generally not up to par.

A sty is an infection, or inflammation, of one of the tiny glands that lie beneath the skin of the eyelids. A germ, usually the "staph," is the trouble-maker. Redness, itching and swelling of the eyelid are the early symptoms.

In most instances applications of warm wet dressings will control the infection and make it subside. Only occasionally does an abscess form from which then needs to be opened to release the accumulated pus.

Styes tend to occur in cycles. Rubbing the eyes with an unclean handkerchief or with dirty fingers may be responsible for them. Eyestrain and the need for glasses are additional reasons for one's susceptibility to these tiny infections.

People in general poor health and those with some forms of anemia are more frequent candidates for this rather unpleasant but benign condition.

When food is swallowed where does digestion first begin?

Saliva produced by three sets of salivary glands contains enzymes that start the process of digestion while food is chewed. Saliva moistens the food and makes it easier to be broken down by digestive juices.

The process of digestion continues in the stomach where hydrochloric acid and a new set of enzymes begin to break down starches, sugars and fats into substances that can then be absorbed and used by the body. The pancreas and the liver bile continue the work in the small intestine.

West Still Growing Trees

Whopping forest giants like this are still harvested around Grays Harbor, Wash.

By ELLIS LUCIA

ABERDEEN, Wash. — The region where oldtime lumbermen made the most tremendous timber harvest on the American continent is, by some miracle, still in the business of growing trees and manufacturing wood products.

Grays Harbor was the "Comstock Lode" of the timber world. As was Nevada's great silver lode for mining, this was the Big Bonanza for lumbering, in the age when sawmill men cared little about trees for the future. They operated under the traditional banner of cut-and-get-out. Yet it was at Grays Harbor, too, that the great tree farm movement was born.

Pioneer lumbermen never dreamed of such forests as surrounded this bay along the Washington coast. The verdant Eldorado ran three to four million board feet to the forty, some 50 billion board feet in all. The virgin trees, hundreds of years old and just right for cutting, were whoopers. They stood more than five feet diameter at the butt and 180 feet of sawlog length to the first branches.

Legend had it that here existed the "Mother Township" of the Douglas fir region, from which spread all the magnificent forest of the Pacific Northwest. That township was indeed a rich vein of green gold. It produced more than two billion board feet in 28 sections.

In 1881 Capt. A. M. Simpson came from the California redwoods and staked a claim. Others followed in his boot prints, but Simpson was truly the founder of the Harbor and long a successful lumberman there.

Simpson was immortalized in an unusual way. Among his employees was Peter B. Kyne, a bookkeeper. From his boss, Kyne fashioned the colorful "Cappy Ricks," one of the most beloved characters of American popular fiction.

More than 12,000 men worked in some 50 sawmills along the river and bay fronts, plus thousands more in specialty plants and logging operations. When a shift changed, the sound was like stampeding cattle along the board walks. There were 20 logging railroads and plants that manufactured the biggest logging gear in the world.

Before the railroads came, lumberjacks devised a unique scheme to get the logs down to the mills. Chains of "slash dams" were built along the many streams.

During heavy rains, which pelt the peninsula much of the year, the dams were opened and away went the logs in the wildest drives on record. Millions of board feet never made it, being of such massive size that they hung up on the banks and couldn't be moved for decades, until powerful modern equipment was developed.

The bay was a made scramble of ships hauling off the record cut. The towns of Aberdeen, Hoquiam and Cosmopolis were as wild as any of the Old West.

Aberdeen's skid road was among the wickedest of all time. It was here that Billy Gohl set a record for murders by a single man. Gohl, who was agent for the Sailors Union, did in at least 140 loggers and seamen for their pay. Caught and sent to prison, he was branded the "Mad Monster of Aberdeen."

In two world wars, Grays Harbor played a key role. Another proud day came in 1927 when Charles A. Lindbergh flew the Atlantic in a plane built of Grays Harbor material.

The timber harvest, lasting until the depression, was fantastic. In the peak years of 1925-1926, the total cut was 3,120,958,691 hauled off in 1,613 ships and thousands of freight cars. In half a century, the Harbor shipped 30 billion board feet, equal to one year's production by all the sawmills in the United States.

Meanwhile, something else happened. Decades before, tough lumberjacks of the Polson Brothers logging outfit began setting out seedlings on cut-over lands. In 1941 the first tree farm was dedicated.

The movement has since become nationwide. Grays Harbor, having weathered the lean years, is now on the road back, for it has more tree farms than any other area in the country.

Tamer now, the old skid road is gone, but modern mills are busy turning out wood products for use at home and in the Vietnam war.

Increasing the Handicap

The latest maneuver of the attorney for Richard Speck, convicted murderer of eight Chicago nurses, may do him no good at all. But it is likely to harm and discourage a group of people who already have too many troubles — epileptics.

Speck's attorney has asked for an examination of his client for signs of epilepsy or latent epilepsy. He says the request came from a group of doctors at Bellevue Hospital in New York, and that if such signs are discovered, the fact might be a mitigating circumstance in Speck's sentencing.

This seems positively medieval, harking back to all the ancient prejudices against epileptics. It is only in recent years that sufferers have banded together to convince the public that they are not dangerous, and are capable of carrying out the activities of normal life. They've had to fight laws forbidding their marriage, and prejudices that make it difficult to find jobs, or make them an object of senseless fear.

Epileptics suffer a handicap ranging from very slight to serious. But like other handicapped people, they deserve the chance to live their lives as fully as possible.

What kind of doctors would willfully try to destroy all the progress in understanding that has been made, by implying that epilepsy could be a factor in such a gruesome crime?

What To Do on Rainy Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — "What'll I do?" children often ask on a rainy day.

They are in a funk. Their powers of invention and imagination have deserted them, leaving them desperately bored.

Grownups, too, sometimes find themselves in the same plight. Monotony turns their lives into one long, rainy day, and they don't quite know what to do with themselves.

This is ironically sad, for, of course, there are many wonderful things worth doing if they'd just turn on their brain power and think a bit. Why not, for example, take a vacation and try to make a few of the forgotten daydreams of their youth come true?

Here is a guide list of possible goals, built around the mental escapes of many an office swivel chair daydreamer:

Buy an ugly, discarded thoroughbred foal with a group of pals and see if you can't turn

him into a Kentucky Derby winner.

Take up karate and see what happens, after a month of training, when you try to break a brick with the side of your hand.

Write Lyndon Johnson and ask him point-blank either to invite you to a White House dinner or declare publicly that you are a social disaster area.

Get out all of the Christmas gift neckties you've hidden in your closet for the last 25 years and have them converted into a sports shirt. You'll be amazed at how the girls at the beach will go for you.

Build a better mousetrap and see how long it will take for the world to beat a path to your door. If that doesn't get any results, build a do-it-yourself love nest and see what happens.

Carry a St. Bernard dog up the steps of the Washington Monument on the Fourth of July. It has never been done, and you should hit every front page in the country.

Become the first fellow in your neighborhood to drive around your local supermarket in a motorized shopping cart.

Swim the English channel underwater. Anybody, of course, can now do it on the surface.

Paint a picture by using your cat's tail as a brush and offer it for exhibit in a dozen modern-art galleries. At least six should be willing to show it.

Go over Niagara Falls in a pontoon-equipped baby buggy. Nobody has tried it all spring.

Memorize the first 12 pages of the Encyclopedia Britannica. You can win a lot of bets by reciting them verbatim at cocktail parties.

Borrow your neighbor's all-purpose credit card, then run away with his wife. He may let you use the credit card forever if you promise not to bring back his wife.

Boredom? There's no reason for anybody to let his life become humdrum. All you need is the courage to turn your daydreams into reality.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil now accounts for half the volume of all international seaborne trade, and so the Arab-Israeli war have their immediate effect on world business as well as diplomacy.

The situation is far different, however, from that of 1956, when the canal also was closed and the pipeline flow blocked.

Over a short period of time, the world is less vulnerable to a shutoff in supply because oil now is produced in areas thought barren a decade or so ago.

But over a long period the tremendous increase in world demand may offset this. Without question the world needs the oil of the Middle East, where the largest reserves are situated and the greatest production increases are being made.

There is another aspect to the problem, though. The Middle East is equally dependent on oil — the export of it. In the event of a general stoppage of the oil flow, the critical question is this: Who can hold out longer, the supplier or the user? It is one of the few factors similar to 1956.

The biggest changes in the past decade are in the increased demand, from both developed and underdeveloped nations, in transportation and in the discovery and exploitation of reserve on all continents.

As a result, Western Europe actually gets a smaller percentage of her oil through the Suez now than 10 years ago, even though its needs have increased by millions of barrels a day.

Consider just two changes: Ten years ago Libya, which is an Arab state west of the canal, was a negligible producer. Now it is the world's sixth largest producer and a big exporter to Europe.

Ten years ago a sizeable tanker weighed 15,000 tons. Today a big tanker weighs 50,000 to 100,000 tons and may be even larger in a few instances. These ships can sail profitably around the southern tip of Africa rather than through Suez.

In addition, the world's need to squeeze more energy out of the land has led to development of new sources. Nigeria is now a big producer. Australia is exploring. Indonesian production likely will increase. Canada's production has doubled in this decade. And production in the United States rose last year by 6.7 per cent.

But the increase in demand has exceeded forecasts. Developed nations, whose markets were thought to be thoroughly exploited, still demand increasing amounts each year. And underdeveloped nations now see oil as assuring their future.

As a result, last year the world used more than two million barrels a day more than in 1965, and the rate of expansion in demand was greater in the first quarter this year than ever before. The non-Communist world now uses 32 million barrels a day, twice that of 10 years ago.

ordinance is not enforceable.

THE CITY solicitor voiced the opinion that the proposed ordinance would not be enforceable either since it left the issuance of permits to the fire chief's discretion.

Although the proposed ordinance set forth certain conditions for a burning permit, Robbins did not think the conditions were explicit enough to be enforced.

Under the ordinance, any person burning trash in other than an incinerator which met prescribed specifications would require a permit.

Permits would be issued by the fire chief.

Chief Wolfe agreed with council that the ordinance should be held for further study.

In other business before council, Chief Wolfe noted that no one had taken the civil service examination for fireman.

HE TOLD council the department was one man short and members of the department would have to work overtime this summer to allow personnel vacations.

According to Wolfe, it was the first time in 20 years no one had taken the test when administered. He told council it was difficult to interest young men in a career in the department "when the grass is greener down the road."

Councilman John Simison suggested the safety director study the possibility of moving a traffic light at the intersection of Washington and Walnut Sts. to the intersection of Pickaway and Walnut Sts.

Councilman John Jenkins reported on a meeting held with refuse haulers concerning a proposed ordinance on trash hauling.

According to Jenkins, "not too many changes" were proposed by the haulers. He said some were in favor of the ordinance as written, some didn't think it would work although they favored it and a few were opposed to the ordinance.

Rail Strike Bill Heads For Senate

Mansfield Hopes House To Get It By Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal to sidetrack a threatened nationwide rail strike steams toward Senate debate with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressing hope the measure will be in House hands by Thursday.

Mansfield called for a morning debate on the bill and put aside another measure — on congressional redistricting — originally slated to occupy the Senate today.

Mansfield said he felt the Senate had to dispose of the rail plan this week because the Senate is expected to devote most of next week to debating a resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

Congress already has voted two extensions of the no strike—no lockout period in the dispute between six shipcraft unions and railroads handling about 95 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

The present extension runs out June 19.

The administration contends that with a war on in Vietnam, a nationwide rail tieup would be a disaster.

Johnson's bill would extend the no strike-no lockout period another 90 days during which intensive mediation efforts would take place under a special five-man board he would name.

But if no settlement were reached in this time, the board could make its own determination of fair terms and order these into effect until Jan. 1, 1969.

The unions labeled the plan compulsory arbitration in hearings on the bill and urged Congress to reject it. Administration officials insisted it varied from compulsory arbitration in several ways.

The railroads said they would go along with the proposal as the only apparently feasible way to avoid a strike at this time.

Senators who supported the union's position tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill in the Labor Committee and said they expected to renew their efforts in the floor debate.

U.N. Security Council Called Soviets Request Hurried Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union asked the U.N. Security Council to set a deadline of 4 p.m. EDT today for Israel and the Arab countries to cease firing.

At a hurriedly called meeting of the 15-nation council, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko repeated his charges that Israel was the aggressor in the Middle East conflict and was to blame for the failure of Tuesday night's U.N. cease-fire to get into effect immediately.

Jordan has notified the United Nations of its acceptance, but no word had been received up to early afternoon from any other party to the fighting. Cairo radio said the Arab countries would keep on fighting despite the resolution.

Israel immediately gave conditional acceptance to the cease-fire, and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant sent cables to all the belligerent governments seeking confirmation of the Israeli position and acceptance from the Arab nations.

Cairo Radio declared, however, that the Arab countries are determined to continue the war despite the council's truce call.

The Arab response was complicated by the stiff conditions Israel set. But their replies were expected soon because the war news showed them losing, and Cairo and Amman broadcast announcements of the council's resolution. Diplomatic sources in Washington said Jordan had asked the United States to arrange a cease-fire.

The council adopted the resolution by vote of all its 15 members Tuesday night about 40 hours after the outbreak of fighting.

The resolution called on "the governments concerned as a first step to take forthwith all measures for an immediate cease-fire and for cessation of all military activities in the area."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said "Israel welcomes the appeal for a cease-fire as formulated in this resolution." But he said its implementation "depends on an absolute and sincere acceptance and cooperation of the other parties," which he said had yet to clarify their intention.

Eban said "the situation to be

Israel claimed to have captured Jabel Levi, 70 miles inside Egypt on the main road in a drive on the Egyptian air base at Bir Gifgafa, about 55 miles west of the canal. This would put the Israelis about 70 miles from Suez.

The Communist East German news agency said the Israelis had struck to within 25 miles of the canal along the north shore, but there was no confirmation in Israel. There was no indication of how far the tank columns were from Suez.

Hand to hand fighting between Israelis and Jordanians was reported in Bethlehem, Jesus' birthplace, 10 miles southwest of Jerusalem.

Damascus radio asserted that Syrian forces on the northern front had invaded Israel and were advancing on Nazareth, where Jesus grew up.

Israeli forces at last official report were about 43 miles inside Sinai, a third to half the distance from the Suez Canal.

Cairo Radio in an earlier broadcast flouted the Security Council action, declaring that the Arab countries were determined to fight on despite the call for a cease-fire. But Jordan, even before the council acted, was reported asking the U.S. government to arrange a truce.

Saudi Arabia, the Middle East's second biggest oil producer, has decided to cut off oil sales at once to "the countries that are helping Israel in aggression," Beirut Radio reported. This presumably was aimed at the United States and Britain, accused by the Arab countries of aiding Israel.

Tax Valuation Base Cut Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A request for a 20 per cent cut in the personal property tax valuation base on retail business inventories opened hearings today by the House Taxation Committee on a series of revenue proposals.

George B. Hammond, executive director of the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants, urged approval of a bill to reduce the personal property tax base from the current 70 to 50 per cent.

To Be Candidate For Akron Mayor

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Robert E. Mohler, president of the Akron Board of Education, says he will run for mayor of Akron on the Democratic ticket.

Ross Airport Prospects Dim

CHILLICOTHE, O. — With only two weeks remaining until the deadline for obtaining a $100,000 state airport grant, Ross County Commissioners have no concrete action on the agenda for a landing strip.

The legal curtain falls June 30, on Gov. James A. Rhodes grants.

The Ross County Commissioners, after two years' deliberation, appeared Monday to be further from agreement on a site than at any time since Commissioner Emerson Brown first proposed land on Stone Road northwest of the city.

Commission Chairman John W. Meeker is the only one who favors proceeding with the Stone Road site in face of overwhelming public disapproval. When the state funds were first made available two years ago, Ross and Pickaway County Commissioners studied a joint airport proposal.

A site on the Corcoran farm just south of the county line and near Route 23 was proposed. Ross County Commissioners would not consider acquisition of the property by condemnation proceedings and Corcoran would not sell.

A site was proposed in Pickaway County on a farm owned by Gerald Hanley. Again Ross Commissioners would not agree to the location, this time because it was in Pickaway County.

The joint airport proposal fell by the wayside and since then, neither Pickaway nor Ross commissioners have made much progress in selecting suitable sites.

Poll Shows Most Priests For Celibacy

NEW YORK (AP)—A poll of the younger ones want priests to be allowed to marry but the over-all majority is opposed to such a change.

The poll asking: "Do you favor a change to optional celibacy for the diocesan clergy?" was mailed to some 8,000 priests in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, and 2,705 responded.

The poll was taken by the Metropolitan Coordinating Committee, an affiliate of the National Association for Pastoral Renewal, which was formed last November to work toward a modification in the celibacy law.

A majority of priests in New Jersey and Connecticut who responded said celibacy by priests, now required, should be made optional. But priests in New York and Brooklyn, usually older men, were "emphatically opposed to such a change."

The vote was 1,413 opposed to 1,331 in favor and 161 did not express an opinion.

Sponsors noted, however, that more than half of the priests responded "yes" to the question: "do you favor the readmission to the active ministry of those married priests who wish to return to priestly work?"

Labor Fights Private Handling Of Compensation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Labor groups fighting a bill to permit private insurance companies to sell workmen's compensation contested Tuesday night such coverage would be too expensive and that claims would be paid too slowly.

Labor representatives testified at a jam-packed hearing of the House Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee on the measure which is triggering more controversy than any other this session.

Warren Smith, secretary treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO, told the committee that sale of workmen's compensation in other states by private carriers has not worked well. He quoted labor or representatives in other states as saying insurance firms have stalled on the payment of claims, creating big backlogs of cases.

Smith added: "Private insurance is too expensive."

ordinance is not enforceable.

THE CITY solicitor voiced the opinion that the proposed ordinance would not be enforceable either since it left the issuance of permits to the fire chief's discretion.

Although the proposed ordinance set forth certain conditions for a burning permit, Robbins did not think the conditions were explicit enough to be enforced.

Under the ordinance, any person burning trash in other than an incinerator which met prescribed specifications would require a permit.

Permits would be issued by the fire chief.

Chief Wolfe agreed with council that the ordinance should be held for further study.

In other business before council, Chief Wolfe noted that no one had taken the civil service examination for fireman.

HE TOLD council the department was one man short and members of the department would have to work overtime this summer to allow personnel vacations.

According to Wolfe, it was the first time in 20 years no one had taken the test when administered. He told council it was difficult to interest young men in a career in the department "when the grass is greener down the road."

Councilman John Simison suggested the safety director study the possibility of moving a traffic light at the intersection of Washington and Walnut Sts. to the intersection of Pickaway and Walnut Sts.

Councilman John Jenkins reported on a meeting held with refuse haulers concerning a proposed ordinance on trash hauling.

According to Jenkins, "not too many changes" were proposed by the haulers. He said some were in favor of the ordinance as written, some didn't think it would work although they favored it and a few were opposed to the ordinance.

Local Man Placed On 2-Years Probation

Delbert H. Dutcher, of Circleville, indicted by the April Grand Jury for non-support, was placed on two-years probation by Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer.

Dutcher changed his plea from innocent to guilty when he appeared before the judge Tuesday.

Hearing Set For WCH Man

Fatal Shooting Still Under Probe

Wesley Lawrence Neville Jr., 30, a radio announcer for station WCHO in Washington C.H. is still being held by Sheriff Don Thompson for his involvement in the fatal shooting of Miss Bonnie Shadley, 20, a former native of Pickaway County.

Neville is slated to appear in Washington C. N. Municipal Court for a preliminary hearing on Thursday. Previously he was slated for an appearance in court on an unnamed charge, but the court was not in session.

Sheriff Don Thompson, declined to comment on the speculation that Neville had failed a lie-detector test.

The fatal shooting occurred in a parked auto just south-east of Washington C. H., officials say.

THE sheriff stated that Neville told him that he and the girl had been target shooting, and that the girl was wounded while he was "playing" with the .22 caliber Derringer in the auto. Neville further stated to authorities that he did not know the weapon was loaded.

Police say that Neville had only been with the radio station for a period of two weeks before the shooting.

Senator Percy

Percy, considered a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination next year, said in an interview the government's handling of the Arab-Israeli clash "left grave questions in my mind about the quality of our advance planning."

Picturing himself as a non-neutral supporter of Israel, the Illinois senator said despite many advance signs of trouble in the Middle East the State Department was still doing research this week on whether the United States had a commitment to Israel.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen noted grumbling in GOP ranks.

He told newsmen Republican senators complained at a meeting Tuesday about a lack of "hard facts" in administration briefings, adding: "I think they expected a little larger body of facts."

Another potential contender for the GOP presidential nod in 1968, Michigan Gov. George Romney, urged President Johnson to "insist that conditions in the Middle East insure the true preservation of the national integrity and independence of Israel."

In a telegram to Johnson, Romney pledged his support to U.S. efforts to end Middle East hostilities, which he called tragic.

Rhodes Protests 37th Division Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes, in a letter to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, said Tuesday he could not "accept any plan that eliminated the 37th Division" of the Ohio National Guard.

Under a Defense Department plan to eliminate 1,300 National Guard and Reserve units in a nationwide streamlining operation, Ohio's 37th Division would be reduced to a brigade in the 38th Division, headquartered in Indiana.

U.N. Security Council Called

Soviets Request Hurried Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union asked the U.N. Security Council to set a deadline of 4 p.m. EDT today for Israel and the Arab countries to cease firing.

At a hurriedly called meeting of the 15-nation council, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko repeated his charges that Israel was the aggressor in the Middle East conflict and was to blame for the failure of Tuesday night's U.N. cease-fire to get into effect immediately.

Jordan has notified the United Nations of its acceptance, but no word had been received up to early afternoon from any other party to the fighting. Cairo radio said the Arab countries would keep on fighting despite the resolution.

Israel immediately gave conditional acceptance to the cease-fire, and U.N. Secretary-General U Thant sent cables to all the belligerent governments seeking confirmation of the Israeli position and acceptance from the Arab nations.

Cairo Radio declared, however, that the Arab countries are determined to continue the war despite the council's truce call.

The Arab response was complicated by the stiff conditions Israel set. But their replies were expected soon because the war news showed them losing, and Cairo and Amman broadcast announcements of the council's resolution. Diplomatic sources in Washington said Jordan had asked the United States to arrange a cease-fire.

The council adopted the resolution by vote of all its 15 members Tuesday night about 40 hours after the outbreak of fighting.

The resolution called on "the governments concerned as a first step to take forthwith all measures for an immediate cease-fire and for cessation of all military activities in the area."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said "Israel welcomes the appeal for a cease-fire as formulated in this resolution." But he said its implementation "depends on an absolute and sincere acceptance and cooperation of the other parties," which he said had yet to clarify their intention.

Rail Strike Bill Heads For Senate

Mansfield Hopes House To Get It By Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal to sidetrack a threatened nationwide rail strike steams toward Senate debate with Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressing hope the measure will be in House hands by Thursday.

Mansfield called for a morning debate on the bill and put aside another measure — on congressional redistricting — originally slated to occupy the Senate today.

Mansfield said he felt the Senate had to dispose of the rail plan this week because the Senate is expected to devote most of next week to debating a resolution to censure Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

Congress already has voted two extensions of the no strike—no lockout period in the dispute between six shopcraft unions and railroads handling about 95 per cent of the nation's rail traffic.

The present extension runs out June 19.

The administration contends that with a war on in Vietnam, a nationwide rail tieup would be a disaster.

Johnson's bill would extend the no strike-no lockout period another 90 days during which intensive mediation efforts would take place under a special five-man board he would name.

But if no settlement were reached in this time, the board could make its own determination of fair terms and order these into effect until Jan. 1, 1969.

The unions labeled the plan compulsory arbitration in hearings on the bill and urged Congress to reject it. Administration officials insisted it varied from compulsory arbitration in several ways.

The railroads said they would go along with the proposal as the only apparently feasible way to avoid a strike at this time.

Sensors who supported the union's position tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill in the Labor Committee and said they expected to renew their efforts in the floor debate.

Crime Clinics For Prevention

An Indiana State Prison's "Road Show" performance.

By BILL SCHRADER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

Michigan City Ind. — Ward Lane, warden of the Indiana State Prison here, subscribes to the "ounce of prevention" philosophy in combating the rising incidence of crime. His practical application of this philosophy has resulted in one of the most unique methods ever developed of waging the war on crime at the juvenile level.

Lane felt the "Crime Does Not Pay" sermons had become antiquated and ineffective for programs in front of youth group and civic organizations. While searching for a new approach he hit on the idea of having convicts themselves address these groups.

It was a bold new approach and one he had some reservations about initially, but he was encouraged by prisoners with whom he discussed it and finally put together what is called the "crime skit."

The program was given a more dignified title the "Crime Prevention Program."

Initially the program called for a young offenders to go to the prison where the skit would be shown as a part of their rehabilitation program.

Its success prompted Warden Lane to take the show on the road as he had suggested when it was first conceived.

The illusion of a prison scene is carried out during the road show with prisoners appearing in simulated cells with bars of wood.

The participants are introduced by their real names. The crimes they have committed and the sentences they received are read off. Each in turn tells how long he has been confined.

This serves as a sobering prelude to the main part of the program when the prisoners specifically detail the mistakes in their past that led to imprisonment and how it could have been avoided.

Warden Lane's traveling crime program has succeeded beyond his greatest expectations. Since 1962 it is estimated that 70,000 people have seen the program in person and many more have seen televised performances.

While the crime program was conceived and is aimed at chiefly the teen-ager there is a message for adults and for what reason it has been in demand by civic groups. Adults are reminded that it is frequently their fault when a teenage son or daughter comes into conflict with the law.

The success of the state prison show in Indiana has also resulted in a similar program developed at the state reformatory at Pendleton.

The young men in the reformatory are felt to be more effective in transmitting a message to teenagers because of the similarity of their ages.

The Pendleton program is "Operation Teenager" and to supplement speeches by the young inmates a slide presentation has been prepared showing reformatory life.

"We think it is a much better investment to build better boys than to build better prisons," Warden Lane points out. "This program is worth all the time money and trouble it costs."

New X-Ray Research Idea Used

CHICAGO (AP) — Field Museum of Natural History has a new X-ray machine geologists can employ to study prehistoric animals fossilized in stone.

It was donated by a West German firm after Dr. W. Steurmer of the Siemens-Reiniger Works in Erlangen visited the museum two years ago and learned its need.

Dr. Rainer Zangerl, chief curator of geology at Field Museum of Natural History, mentioned his department's X-ray was worn out and would not be useful much longer.

Dr. Zangerl's paleontological work with X-rays for over 30 years has resulted in unusual discoveries.

He found in black shale from quarries in Indiana remains of a shark of about 285 million years ago. The shark had true bone with bone cells.

CASSIUS STILL SAYS NO—During a meeting in Cleveland at which many leading Negro athletes representing the Negro Industrial and Economic Union tried in vain to get former heavyweight champ Cassius Clay to change his mind and go into the Army, Clay (center) is dwarfed by basketball stars Bill Russell (left), 6 feet, 11 inches, of the Boston Celtics, and Lew Alcindor, 7 feet, 3 inches, from California.

Youth Saves Family of Five by Valor

DONIPHAN, Mo. (AP) — A high school boy, on his way to take a driver's test, stopped to save an unconscious man from drowning and lead his wife and five children to safety.

The boy, Ted Dwayne Wilson, 16, had watched the family's car plunge off U. S. 160 into a creek. The car was partly submerged. The man had been thrown 100 feet and floated unconscious in the water.

Wilson jumped from the truck in which he was riding with a friend, waded out and revived the man with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. He then turned his attention to the rest of the family, and ferried them to the creek bank. Their injuries were minor.

After drying out at a nearby home, Wilson continued his trip and passed the driver's test with a score of 93 out of a possible 100.

Robert Clark, 321 Long St., was cited into Circleville Municipal Court on a citation issued by Circleville Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe.

Chief Wolfe stated the property located at 321 Long St., owned by Robert Clark, was a "fire hazard to the City of Circleville and to the health and welfare of the community."

Municipal Court Judge Sterling M. Lamb found Clark guilty and deferred sentencing so Clark could comply with the clean-up order issued by the court.

If Clark complies with the order to remove rubbish and debris from the premises and clears the property of weeds and trash, consideration will be given at time of sentencing, noted Judge Lamb. The court gave Clark until June 15.

MID EAST SCOREBOARD — This newschart shows the lineup of military strength in the Middle East based on unofficial reports from London and Washington.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — A University of Oklahoma professor says several big American schools make up an "academic Mafia" which gets too big a proportion of federal research money.

W.N. Peach named Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, University of Michigan, University of Chicago, University of California at Berkeley and Stanford University. He told a Senate subcommittee that if a proposed foundation for social sciences is to be really national in scope, these large schools shouldn't dominate it.

"It would be difficult to demonstrate statistically that the academic Mafia has greater control over federal research funds than the other Mafia has over gambling and other types of pleasure industries," Peach said. "But it will be even more difficult to demonstrate the opposite."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The way apparently has been cleared for the House to vote June 14 — Flag Day — on a bill making it a federal crime to desecrate the American flag.

The measure, primarily a result of anti-Vietnam war protests which feature flag-burning, won approval Tuesday from the House Judiciary Committee. It provides for a fine of up to $1,000 and a year in prison for violation. All the states have similar laws.

Not all the committee members approved the bill. A main argument against it is that it is vague and infringes on the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech.

Capital footnotes
The Internal Revenue Service says about 45 million Americans have received more than $7 billion in refunds from 1966 tax payments.

President Johnson has nominated Dale Wayne Hardin of Alexandria, Va., and Grant E. Syphers of Arcadia, Calif., to fill two Republican vacancies on the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Public Health Service is studying the spread of hepatitis through groups of narcotic addicts who share the same needle for injecting drugs. The problem is known to extend from New York to Los Angeles.

Capital Quote
"Who can vote against something like this? It's like motherhood," — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, after voting for a measure providing penalties for desecrating the American flag, although calling it a "bad bill" because he doubts it is constitutional.

Two Ohioans Die In Truck Collision

COLUMBIANA CITY, Ind. (AP) — Two Ohioans were injured fatally Tuesday when two trucks collided on U.S. 30 east of here.

Ralph McClanahan, 37, Centerburg, Ohio, was killed in the crash. He was a passenger in a truck driven by Jackie Boyd, 30, of Mount Vernon, Ohio, who died later in a Fort Wayne hospital.

In some national parks, including Yellowstone and Grand Teton, elk have stripped choice grazing areas, threatening soil erosion and undernourishment of wildlife.

Tradition Not Overruled by Automation

NEW DELHI (AP) — Residents in the Indian Capital apparently do not want automation to interfere with the traditional cremation rites at Hindu funerals.

Although the city built a $100,000 electric crematorium on the banks of the sacred Jamuna River to provide a quicker and cheaper method of cremations, it has received little business since opening 19 months ago.

Cremations, costing 15 rupees ($2) each, have averaged only three a day. Most of the bodies sent to the crematorium are those of unclaimed beggars' bodies.

The aversion to use of the new facility, a local daily said, is based on unwillingness of Hindus to depart from the traditional outdoor riverbank cremations.

Glynn, inside guard; Jim Shannon, outside guard; Paul Schillinger, Everett Stocklen and Thomas Shea, trustees.

Installation of the new officers will take place during the first meeting in July.

Peoria People Help Improve Their City

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Peoria's economy is healthy and its cultural resources encourage citizen participation, an economic investigator has revealed.

Donald M. Nelson, a mortgage loan supervisor with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, said Peoria's retail sales have risen from $467 million in 1963 to $611 million in 1965.

"This is a much more rapid rise than any other community that we have surveyed," he said.

Nelson's study of Peoria impressed him "by the grass-roots participation of local citizens in city improvement," he said.

"They manage to get volunteers for everything. This is significant not only in social and economic progress but in increasing its cultural resources."

Jacques Tiffeau Shows Fall Fashion Collection

NEW YORK (AP) — Leather egg roll toppers tied under the chin, thigh high boots, mini crowns and cowboy hats, mink shoes and coon-cuffed britches were a part of a show put on by manikins modelling Jacques Tiffeau's fall fashion collection.

As circus music blared in his tiny showroom Tuesday, gun-toting cow-girls, ladies in leotards, and strippers too, burst into their acts.

But the starring team were the three M's, Mini, Midi and Minuet. They represented the lengths Tiffeau is allowing hemlines to grow to this winter.

The Minuet was the sweet old fashioned girl with bands of mink on her mini skirt to match her mink shoes.

The Midi was usually a coat stopping between the knee and the ankle. The longer the coat the shorter the dress underneath. However the combination is a humane solution to the mini-madness during the long hard winter ahead.

Other frost thwarting schemes Tiffeau offered were leather boots higher than a trout fisherman's and mink baby caps with furry tails that tied at the nape of the neck. Still other hot ideas were slacks of grape-hued mole and a skirt and jacket costume of green-tinged mole.

And who could overlook the khaki colored britches with the coon cuffs worn under a very short shift?

Occasionally a playful manikin stripped off her long skirt to show off her short one, or her electric-hued long johns with the turtle neck collar that reached the ears.

Under an umpteen thousand dollar sable that reached the ankles one miss audaciously wore orange neon knit long johns.

Other eye-blinking color combinations in the fashion circus included a fluorescent pink midi coat over slithery black leather mini skirt and topper.

Despite these theatrical as-trope, the basic apparel was typical of the French imported designer.

Jackets were of the jaunty Eisenhower or smock type over softly gathered skirts, worn with sleeveless ring colored blouses. Cowboy hats, cocked over the forehead or tiny felt crowns or leather rolls, or reels of cellophane served as toppers.

Wool jersey, often in gray or khaki colors, were high waisted or loosely sashed under mini bosoms.

Somber blacks, all lengths, were vitalized by jeweled dog colors or rhinestone borders.

Vietnam War Action Hits Lowest Level

Small Losses, Few Air Strikes Against North

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today that fighting in Vietnam had slacked to its lowest level this year with only scattered ground skirmishes and relatively few air strikes against North Vietnam.

Despite the lull, losses were sustained in small fights and a Navy Crusader jet was lost to ground fire over the Communist North. The pilot parachuted and was picked up in the Tonkin Gulf only 18 minutes after he splashed down. It was the 573rd U.S. combat plane reported lost in North Vietnam.

Officers denied that the lull in the war was due in any way to the fighting in the Middle East, but it appeared that neither side viewed this as a propitious moment for any dramatic moves.

American warplanes penetrated into the heavily fortified heartland of North Vietnam again Tuesday, raiding rail lines leading from Hanoi to Red China. Only 88 missions were flown, compared with about 125 on recent normal days.

The U.S. Command reported that not since the first of the year had there been a comparable lull in the ground war. For the past four days the U.S. military communique has said, "No significant contact with the enemy was reported."

U.S. officers volunteered no reason for the lapse in significant ground fighting. They said, however, that intelligence indicated the Communist forces have evidently been girding for battle in three areas — the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam, the central highlands and the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

Light contacts were reported in all three areas Tuesday, but there was no developing pattern.

Along the demilitarized zone, the cruiser Boston shelled Communist storage areas and then moved south to catch an evident strong Red attempt to move supplies across the Ben Hai River, which bisects the zone. The cruiser reported wreaking havoc among a fleet of 25 sampans crossing the river.

In the air war, U.S. headquarters reported jets again plastered three rail lines leading north from Hanoi-one to the northwest up the Red River delta, one to the northeast and one short spur running 40 miles north into the Thai Nguyen industrial complex.

There was no report of any dogfights with Communist MIGs, although raids into this area nearly always bring the Red jets into the sky.

DIRECT HIT—A gun camera mounted on the plane of Maj. Ralph L. Kuster, St. Louis, Mo., records a direct hit (top) by a missile fired by the major at a MIG-17 during a dog-fight, and the explosion (lower) of the MIG. The battle took place about 38 miles east-northeast of Hanoi.

Jewish Groups Rally in U.S.A.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jewish communities throughout the nation quickly rallied to Israel's side as fighting broke out in the Middle East. Volunteers offered to fight, students packed to go help harvest crops and thousands more gave money.

American Jewish leaders called Monday for all Jews to take trains, planes or buses to Washington for a rally in support of Israel Thursday in Lafayette Park, across from the White House.

No similar plans were announced by the American Arab community which is less numerous and less well organized. One religious leader pointed out that there are no organizations of Arabic-speaking persons that cross religious or national lines. Therefore, said Father Joe Shareen of St. George's Syrian Orthodox church, Indianapolis, unlike the Jews, the Arabic peoples have no over-all spokesmen or movements.

At Brandeis University near Boston, student volunteers announced they would go to Israel to help harvest that nation's food crop in place of army volunteers serving at the front.

More than 70 student applications to go were received and 100 more were expected. University officials said loans would be made available to the students to finance the round-trip air fare to Israel.

An Israeli official in Atlanta, Ga., said a "fantastic number" of people from all over the Southeast had telephoned his office and volunteered to fight.

But, said Director of Tourism Amnon Gil-Ad, the consul general's office was turning down the offers. "We don't want any of them to get Israel to fight," he said. "This is our fight."

Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz, vice president of the Israel Bond organization, said in New York that during the last 10 days more than $13 million worth of the bonds had been sold in 50 American cities.

The United Jewish Appeal established a special Israel emergency fund into which it funneled donations from 230 local campaigns across the country.

Leaders at the UJA's national headquarters here would not reveal the exact amounts received. They said the gifts would be announced next Monday.

Federal Agents Arrested for Bogus Bill Sale

NEW YORK (AP) — A Secret Service agent and a federal narcotics agent — Brooklyn neighbors — appeared in handcuffs in Federal Court today, accused of conspiring to sell $23,000 worth of counterfeit bills Monday night.

U.S. Atty. Robert F. Morgenthau, asked whether he recalled any prior arrest of a Secret Service agent, replied, "It's the first one I know of."

Morgenthau gave few details, except that the two men were arrested on the street Monday by Secret Service agents in Greenwich Village.

No Sunflowers On Our Cakes!

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Harry Dalvine has a sign in his bakery which states: "We don't put sunflowers on cakes."

"They're just too hard to make," Dalvine said of the decorative versions of Kansas' state flower. "Each petal has to be made individually and each one has to be just right."

How about decorating cakes with the state bird?

"Meadowlarks are easy," Dalvine said.

Bill Dana Discusses United Network Demise

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"At least I set a record. I'm the first man in history to sink an entire network."

That was rueful humor of Bill Dana as he discussed the demise of "The Las Vegas Show," which he headed for 26 programs. The two-hour nightly variety show came to an end last week when the United Network folded operations for lack of cash.

"The Las Vegas Show" was the first attraction of a proposed fourth network headed by former ABC boss Oliver Treyz. It turned out to be the last attraction as well.

"This appears to be the definite case of 'the operation was a success, but the patient died,'" said Dana in a post-mortem interview.

"I can only ascribe the failure of the enterprise to the consummate naivete on the part of the backers. The whole thing went against all principles of sound fiscal policy. Even if you open a candy store, you should have enough capitalization to last more than three or four weeks."

United Network folded after a month of operation, and its passing was lamented by those who welcomed its promise as competition to the monolithic programming of the Big Three.

Dana feels the failure could have been avoided.

"If they had blown the whistle earlier, I think the whole operation could have been saved," said the comedian whose portrayal of Jose Jimenez has overshadowed his other accomplishments as writer—the Steve Allen show—and producer—the Milton Berle show.

He argued that the Las Vegas show was perfectly sound on the basis of cost-per-thousand—a Madison Avenue term reflecting the ratio of production charge vs. the audience delivered. Audience surveys, said Dana, showed that the program was delivering an audience of 2,600,000, a respectable figure considering its estimated $180,000 weekly cost, not including telephone line charges.

"The backers made the mistake of beginning the show in the last quarter of the advertising budget cycle, when little new outlay is being made," he said. "Even so, we were beginning to pick up. After the third week, we were getting sponsorship from Colgate, General Foods and General Mills. And just a day before the cancellation, the mighty J. Walter Thompson was coming in."

But, said Dana, United Network's "tremendous under-capitalization" could not sustain the continuing costs.

'Life' Photographer Dies in Sinai War

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — An American news photographer, Paul Schutzer of Life magazine, was killed early today when Egyptian fire hit the Israeli half-track on which he was riding, Israeli army sources reported. He was the first newsman killed in the new Arab-Israeli war.

Schutzer, 35, lived in New Rochelle, N.Y. with his wife and their two children. He was covering an Israeli-Egyptian armored battle in the Sinai Desert.

GOP To Hold Fund Raising Ohio Dinners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Republican leaders reported Tuesday they expect about 7,500 people to attend a series of fund raising dinners throughout the state Thursday night.

The GOP's finance committee which is arranging the dinners estimated the attendance.

A special telephone hook-up will link all eight dinners so each of the main speakers will be able to address the statewide audience.

Gov. James A. Rhodes will open the telephone part of the dinner, introducing Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, who will be in Cleveland.

Bliss, in turn, will introduce Sen. George Murphy of California in Columbus, followed by Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois in Cleveland, Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska in Lima, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon in Dayton, Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan in Mansfield, Sen. John C. Tower of Texas, in Youngstown, Sen. Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming in Steubenville, and Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., of Tennessee in Canton.

Utah's Great Salt Lake forms the largest body of water in the United States west of the Mississippi River.

Loopholes Need Plugging in Ohio Open Meeting Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Loopholes in Ohio's "open meetings" law made by a Supreme Court decision should be plugged, witnesses told the Senate Ways and Means Committee Tuesday.

They testified in support of a proposal to declare void any decisions or formal actions taken by public bodies in executive sessions from which citizens are excluded.

Witnesses testifying in support of the measure at a hearing included:

Co-sponsoring senators William B. Nye and Oliver Ocasek, both Summit County Democrats; William J. Oertel of the Ohio Newspaper Association which has endorsed the proposal; Paul R. Ginger, newspaper association attorney; Robert Journal editorial writer; Russell Kottbauer, Akron Beacon-Benson Wolman, legislative representative of the American Civil Liberties Union of Ohio, and Carlton Dargusch Jr., executive vice president of the Ohio Broadcasters Association.

Ocasek told the committee headed by Sen. Michael J. Maloney, R-7, Cincinnati, that executive sessions of school boards, and other public bodies are legal by edict of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court held in 1965 that rules, regulations and other formal actions could not be adopted in executive sessions. That decision was interpreted to mean that executive sessions were all right so long as they were informal rather than formal.

Saying that executive session loopholes should be plugged, Oertel said "this bill makes it a little more difficult to hold secret meetings."

"All we are asking to do is get back what we thought we had," Reeves said in referring to the court decision. Commenting on an observation by Nye that the bill provides for injunctions against closed sessions rather than penalties, Reeves asserted that newspapers would not resort to injunctions unless closed meetings became flagrant.

"There is a tendency to have more and more closed meetings," Ginger told the committee.

But he expressed belief it was the intention of the legislature that meetings of public bodies should be open despite the court decision.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Some Hunters Sitting Ducks

DEAR ABBY: Nearly six months ago a group of us men were lunching together at our club when a man (I'll call him Mr. Duck Hunter) said, "I've had a fantastic season and have some ducks put away for all of you."

Another man (I'll call him Mr. Big Shot) spoke up and said, "My wife is an expert at preparing wild duck, so why not send all the ducks to my house and she'll prepare a duck dinner for all of us: Everyone agreed it would be great."

Months passed and no duck dinner. Finally Mr. Duck Hunter asked me if I'd ever been invited to Mr. Big Shot's for that duck dinner. I told him I hadn't. Then he said he had sent 12 ducks to Mr. Big Shot's house per promise.

My question: Shouldn't someone ask Mr. Big Shot what happened to the ducks? And if so, who should ask?

DUCK LOVER

DEAR DUCK LOVER: Yes, Mr. Duck Hunter should ask him. Whether the idea of the duck dinner was just ducky with everybody except Mr. Big Shot's wife, or the birds ended up in the craws of Mr. Big Shot and all the Little Shots.

In any case, let this be a lesson to you. A bird in the hand is worth two in somebody else's freezer, so next time someone offers you a gift, don't let a go - between fowl you up.

DEAR ABBY: When introducing my 25-year-old son who has been married and divorced someone is sure to say, "You mean you have a son this good looking and no girl has snapped him up yet?"

Then I say, "He's been married. He's divorced now." Well, my son says this embarrasses him no end, and all I should say is, "No. He's single."

Well, I just can't see it his way. I say once you are married you are never single again. You're a divorcee. Please answer this in the paper so other mothers can get it straight.

TRUTHFUL

DEAR TRUTHFUL: If one is "single" it means he is simply unattached, and it's really nobody's business how he got that way. It isn't necessary marital history but if you are asked outright and want to answer, answer honestly.

DEAR ABBY: We have two boys, and our doctor says no more children. I have always wanted a daughter, so I suggested to my wife that we adopt a little girl.

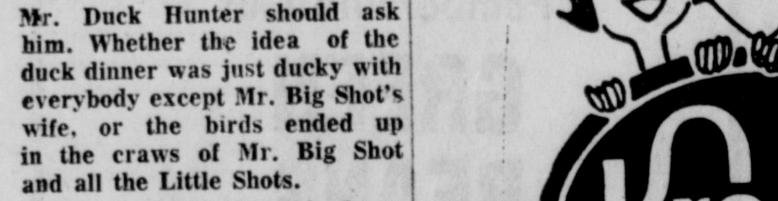

She said she wouldn't think of it. She also said she wouldn't mind adopting a boy - but not a girl. She insists that no man in his right mind wants a daughter anyway.

Am I a screwball or something to want a daughter? My wife also contends that it isn't good to raise boys and girls together. Who is right?

Proposal Rejected

CLEVELAND (AP) — A proposal that they reduce their wage increase demand from 7.3 per cent to 6 per cent has been rejected by members of Utility Workers Local 270. About 2,300 members of the union have been on strike against the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. since May 1.

Udall Criticizes Ohio Pollution Control Program

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Health Director Emmett W. Arnold took issue Monday with a charge that Ohio is "aiming too low" in its attempts to curb water pollution.

At a news conference in Toledo Sunday, U.S. Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said Ohio is one of the states that could "do more" in the field of pollution control.

Arnold, in a letter sent to Udall Monday, labeled the remark "totally wrong."

"In its own pollution control program," Arnold said, "Ohio has set a pattern which few states have been able to follow." As an example, the health director said, the state's current improvement program for waste treatment facilities will cost an estimated $1 billion during the next four years.

Arnold, in a letter sent to Udall Monday, labeled the remark "totally wrong."

"In its own pollution control program," Arnold said, "Ohio has set a pattern which few states have been able to follow." As an example, the health director said, the state's current improvement program for waste treatment facilities will cost an estimated $1 billion during the next four years.

Long Phone Cord Prevents Jail Escape Attempts

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — Sheriff Andrew H. Beros says General Telephone Company of Ohio has installed a wall telephone outside the main cell block of the Guernsey County Jail to help reduce the possibilities of jailbreak.

The installation was requested by the sheriff after a police chief in southern Ohio was shot and killed by an escaping prisoner who had been released from his cell to make a telephone call.

The Guernsey County Jail's new telephone has a long cord so that an officer can dial a number and hand the receiver to an inmate through the bars. Previously an officer had to unlock the prison cell and escort the prisoner 100 feet to the sheriff's office where the closest telephone was located.

Standard Pension Plan Would Help Revenue Service

CHICAGO (AP) — Corporate pension plans are a growing headache for the Internal Revenue Service.

Commercial Clearing House said in a report that IRS may soon have to give close consideration to a standard or master-type corporate retirement plan.

Without such a plan, the IRS may find it increasingly difficult to keep current on the number of plans being submitted.

There were 63,497 plans approved from 1920 through 1960, while 68,468 plans were approved from 1961 through 1966.

A standard or master plan could be used to simplify submission of pension or profit-sharing plans for IRS approval to get favorable federal tax benefits.

Ohio Legislature

Senate Considers Plan To Lower Voting Age

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A perennial resolution to lower the voting age from 21 to 19 was up for a vote in the Ohio Senate today with sponsors optimistic.

The proposal has gone down the drain at previous sessions but supporters believe the legislative winds are blowing the other way this year.

Sentiment for youngsters fighting in the Vietnam War should help the resolution, they point out.

They also note that the current legislature "broke the barrier" with passage of a bill allowing 18-year-olds to sue and be sued for divorce and alimony.

Only four states now permit voting by persons under 21. They are Georgia, Kentucky, Alaska and Hawaii. But proposals are pending in several legislatures.

The resolution proposing a change in the state constitution requires approval by three fifths majorities of both houses. It then would go before voters in the November election.

Senators passed six bills and the House four during busy floor sessions Tuesday. Bill introduced would keep the poll open on Election Day until 8:30 p.m., increase vacation allowances for state employees, and limit prisoners to one post-conviction appeal.

In other developments: —The Senate passed 21-9 a measure allowing courts of record to impound license plates of motorists whose licenses are under suspension or revocation.

—Representatives passed and sent to the Senate a bill allowing cities and townships to levy a sales tax on hotel and motel rooms.

—The House rejected a conference committee report on a bill conforming Ohio Savings and Loan Association laws with federal statutes. Opposition centered around a provision reducing the prison term for obtaining loans fraudulently from six years to two. Rep. Richard G. Reichel R-92 Massillon, Stark, and others said penalties already are provided in other sections of the code and that the provision "would give associations their own private criminal code."

—Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion moved successfully to have a bill that was defeated Monday night brought up for reconsideration and left pending. The bill would set Sept. 30 as the cutoff date for youngsters to become six years old when entering the first grade. Present law fixes the date at Oct. 31.

—The House completed passage of a measure authorizing counties to create date processing boards. The lower chamber passed and sent to the Senate a bill giving the State Board of Education authority to transfer non-contiguous school district territory.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Mideast war is a bridge between two worlds, the ancient world and the one we know, for it is linked to both and in a very real sense is like a chapter out of the Bible.

Over 3,300 years ago the wandering Hebrews saw Palestine, called the land of Canaan then, wanted it, fought the Canaanites for it, and conquered them, making it their homeland.

Later under their hero king, David, they subdued the neighboring Philistines, too. Today the Jews have another hero against the enemy, Gen. Moshe Dayan.

Under his leadership in the brief war of 1956 the Israelis smashed through Egypt to the Suez Canal, although they later withdrew.

Now once again in the crisis with Egypt last week Dayan was brought in by popular demand as defense minister and a few days later the war began with the Israelis once more smashing through the Egyptians.

In Dayan's day, as in David's, the basic issue was real estate, the strip of land called Palestine from which the Jews had been dispersed by the Romans about 1,900 years ago.

They had been wanderers until 1948 when, with the blessing of the United Nations, they were allowed once more to call Palestine their home, or at least a part of it, and set up their own government there under the name Israel.

The Arabs have never accepted this intrusion into their particular world of the Middle East with the creation of the Jewish state. Although the Moslem and Jewish religions became a towering factor in the Jewish-Arab relations, it was Palestine itself which remained the central issue.

In this sense the war is a continuation of the past and is not an ideological war like the one in Vietnam where the United States is fighting against Communist domination of the country.

But where the Mideast war touches the modern world is in the possibility — not yet over — that this revival of an ancient war might involve in a global war the two great ideological opponents, the Soviet Union and the United States.

Those two, judging from what they did Tuesday night in the U.N. Security Council, are not eager to let a biblical war suck them into a world war.

Nevertheless, in the decades ahead there will always be this danger, if not in the Bible lands at least everywhere where the interests of the giants meet, a danger that will be multiplied a thousandfold when Red China becomes a full-fledged nuclear force.

And the interests of the giants meet, since both are in a non-shooting war for the mind of mankind, practically everywhere even when the small nations fight for reasons as simple as those of the biblical tribes.

Moscow and the United States, although the former supported Egypt and the latter could hardly let Israel be eliminated, joined in passing a resolution calling on Arabs and Jews to cease firing.

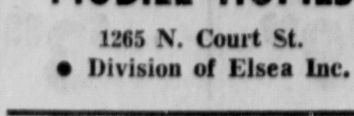

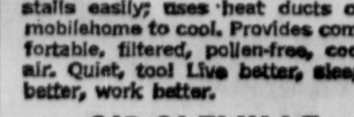

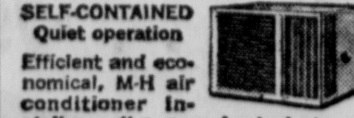

Yet, the solemn, somber day had a touch of unintentional, bizarre comedy by the Arabs who so far have shown themselves inept in this latest war with Israel.

In what looked like an obvious attempt to arouse world opinion, and particularly Soviet feeling, against the United States, the Egyptian high command charged that carrier-based U.S. and British navy planes were fighting in support of Israel.

In Cairo the semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahran said Jordan's King Hussein told Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser by telephone that "U.S. planes hit my house with rockets."

The newspaper said Hussein told Nasser that he himself saw U.S. planes attacking from U.S. aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean off the Israeli coast — but he said he saw all this on radar screens.

How he could tell the blips he saw on the screen were U.S. and British planes is one of the wonders of the Middle East.

Lancaster Police Have Pair of Cooking Gas Cars

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—The police department in this city of 33,000 is driving two of its patrol cars on cooking gas.

The cruisers look like any police car — painted black and white with flashing red lights on top.

But their power comes from a tank of propane gas.

That's bottled gas, the type used for cooking and heating homes.

The cost of keeping policemen on wheels is high. As an experiment, two of the city's seven police cars were equipped with $250 converter units.

The liquid propane gas is carried in tanks. The converter, mounted on the engine, vaporizes the gas and feeds it into the carburetor.

Like auto gasoline, propane provides the source of energy

for the car when ignited by the spark plugs.

"Some like it and some don't," said Capt. M. M. Martin, commenting on the reaction of his men to the propane.

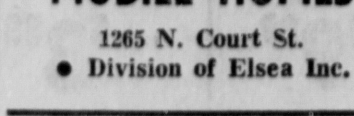

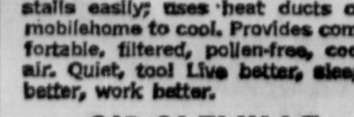

"It's quicker," said one officer, who claimed that acceleration is faster with propane.

Martin said the major complaint is the slight odor when the tanks are filled. "But gasoline has an odor, too," he said.

Martin said the propane experiment is to determine whether the gas is more economical than gasoline. Propane sells for about 18 cents a gallon—about half the cost of gasoline in Ohio.

Propane also produces less carbon when burned. This could keep engines operating more efficiently. Martin also speculated that oil changes will be less frequent and maintenance costs cut.

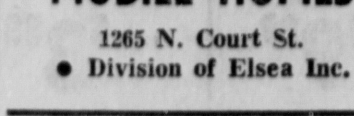

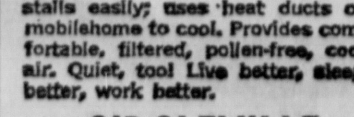

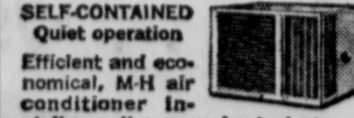

The propane system is a novelty, but not new. Martin said at least one out-of-state police department has tried it with success.

relations, it was Palestine itself which remained the central issue.

In this sense the war is a continuation of the past and is not an ideological war like the one in Vietnam where the United States is fighting against Communist domination of the country.

But where the Mideast war touches the modern world is in the possibility — not yet over — that this revival of an ancient war might involve in a global war the two great ideological opponents, the Soviet Union and the United States.

Those two, judging from what they did Tuesday night in the U.N. Security Council, are not eager to let a biblical war suck them into a world war.

Nevertheless, in the decades ahead there will always be this danger, if not in the Bible lands at least everywhere where the interests of the giants meet, a danger that will be multiplied a thousandfold when Red China becomes a full-fledged nuclear force.

And the interests of the giants meet, since both are in a non-shooting war for the mind of mankind, practically everywhere even when the small nations fight for reasons as simple as those of the biblical tribes.

Moscow and the United States, although the former supported Egypt and the latter could hardly let Israel be eliminated, joined in passing a resolution calling on Arabs and Jews to cease firing.

Yet, the solemn, somber day had a touch of unintentional, bizarre comedy by the Arabs who so far have shown themselves inept in this latest war with Israel.

In what looked like an obvious attempt to arouse world opinion, and particularly Soviet feeling, against the United States, the Egyptian high command charged that carrier-based U.S. and British navy planes were fighting in support of Israel.

In Cairo the semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al Ahran said Jordan's King Hussein told Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser by telephone that "U.S. planes hit my house with rockets."

The newspaper said Hussein told Nasser that he himself saw U.S. planes attacking from U.S. aircraft carriers in the Mediterranean off the Israeli coast — but he said he saw all this on radar screens.

How he could tell the blips he saw on the screen were U.S. and British planes is one of the wonders of the Middle East.

NO STRIFE HERE—Egypt and Israel are at each other's throats but Omar Sharif and Barbra Streisand are getting along fine as they rehearse the film version of "Funny Girl" in Hollywood. It's Barbra's first film.

Lancaster Police Have Pair of Cooking Gas Cars

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP)—The police department in this city of 33,000 is driving two of its patrol cars on cooking gas.

The cruisers look like any police car — painted black and white with flashing red lights on top.

But their power comes from a tank of propane gas.

That's bottled gas, the type used for cooking and heating homes.

The cost of keeping policemen on wheels is high. As an experiment, two of the city's seven police cars were equipped with $250 converter units.

The liquid propane gas is carried in tanks. The converter, mounted on the engine, vaporizes the gas and feeds it into the carburetor.

Like auto gasoline, propane provides the source of energy

for the car when ignited by the spark plugs.

"Some like it and some don't," said Capt. M. M. Martin, commenting on the reaction of his men to the propane.

"It's quicker," said one officer, who claimed that acceleration is faster with propane.

Martin said the major complaint is the slight odor when the tanks are filled. "But gasoline has an odor, too," he said.

Martin said the propane experiment is to determine whether the gas is more economical than gasoline. Propane sells for about 18 cents a gallon—about half the cost of gasoline in Ohio.

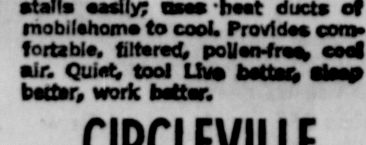

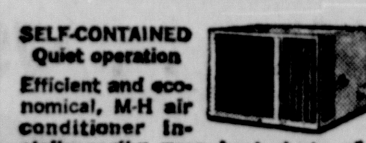

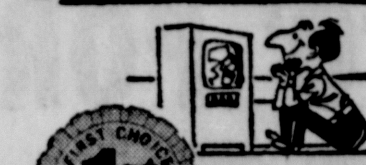

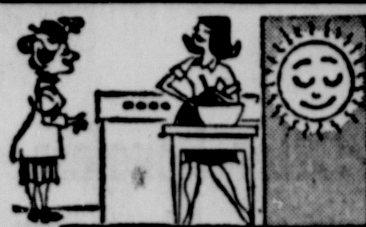

Propane also produces less carbon when burned. This could keep engines operating more efficiently. Martin also speculated that oil changes will be less frequent and maintenance costs cut.

The propane system is a novelty, but not new. Martin said at least one out-of-state police department has tried it with success.

Indians and Minnesota Split Their Doubleheader

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — It was almost a case of too much Harmon Killebrew for the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

The Minnesota slugger had four RBI's in a doubleheader split with the Tribe. Cleveland won the opener 6-4 and dropped the second game, 7-1.

Fred Whitfield's pinch-hit 10th inning homer won the first game, but not until Killebrew belted one 380 feet in the ninth, starting a three-run rally that sent the game into extra innings.

Killebrew drove in three runs with a homer and a single in the nightcap to back up Dave Boswell's five-hitter.

With his team trailing 4-1 in the first game, Killebrew opened the ninth inning with his 13th homer of the year, a blast into the left field pavilion off starter Luis Tiant. Tony Oliva singled and Sonny Siebert replaced Tiant.

Bob Allison greeted Siebert with a 365-foot drive into the pavilion to tie the score with no outs. But Siebert retired the next three batters.

Larry Brown beat out a bunt in the Indians 10th and Whitfield, batting for Siebert, drove one 390 feet to put the Tribe ahead for good.

Rocky Colavito had given the Indians an early lead with a two-run single and, Brown singled home the first Cleveland run. Tiant's sacrifice scored the other.

In the second game, Boswell (3-3) let only one Cleveland runner reach third as he struck out 10 and walked two.

Killebrew slammed a solo homer (No. 14) in the third, then started a five-run rally in the fifth with a bases-loaded single for two runs.

Steve Bailey had replaced John O'Donoghue in the fifth and Oliva tagged him for a double, scoring Rich Collins. Oliva Versailles' infield single scored Killebrew and Oliva raced home on an infield error. The Indians scored in the

Cincinnati Reds Score 3-2 Over San Francisco

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Pete Rose gets on base for the Cincinnati Reds, that's the signal for Tony Perez to try for a home run — and quite often he succeeds.

The one-two combination worked again Tuesday night when the league-leading Reds scored a 3-2 decision over San Francisco. It was the 10th Reds' game in a row decided by one run and their fifth consecutive victory.

"I pray for Pete Rose to get on base and then I hit a home run," Perez said afterward. "When he gets on base, I say I have to hit a home run."

"The last eight home runs I hit, Pete was on base."

Perez, who leads the Reds with 37 runs batted in, says he is hitting better than ever before because he is not being platooned. Tuesday night's home run was his 12th this season.

"It's different when you play every day. If you don't, you lose your timing," he explained.

The Reds scored their runs in the sixth when Vada Pinson broke up a scoreless duel between Milt Pappas and Gaylord Perry with a two-out home run. Rose followed this with a single and then Perez knocked the ball far over the centerfield fence.

Ollice Brown's seventh inning homer gave the Giants one run. Willie McCovey sent Pappas to the showers in the eighth by doubling home Willie Mays, who had reached base on a walk.

Both Cincinnati pitchers said they were using sliders in the game.

"When you go in relief like this you have to throw hard and throw strikes—you don't have time to work on batters," said Don Nottebart, who saved the decision for Pappas.

Washington tallied two runs in the second, third and fifth frames to roll to a 6-2 win over Laurelville Merchants Tuesday in the Tri-County Little League.

The winners slashed eight hits in the tilt, including a pair of doubles by Gary Francis and solo two base tags by Greg Justus and Randy Kneece.

Francis was the winning hurler for Washington, fanning 14 batters and allowing only two Laurelville hits, a double by Keith Lowery and a single by M. Eveland.

The Washington minor league team thumped Laurelville, 21-4, with Steve Marshall going the winning mound route for Washington.

Kiwanians Coast To Win

Kiwanis exploded for eight runs in the second inning to coast past L. M. Butch, 11-3, Tuesday night in the Babe Ruth League.

The Jewelers held a 1-0 lead going into the second. But that was quickly erased and Kiwanis was never threatened again.

Ty Ankrom started for the winners and went into the fifth before being pulled in favor of Marsh Barnes. Together they scattered seven hits.

In addition to pitching the win, Ankrom proved his plate worthiness, smacking a homer and a double in four trips. He was aided by Long with a triple and Mike Fuller and Tony Lightle with two sackers.

Of Butch's seven hits, six were held up at first base. The other clout was a homer by Bill Thomas.

Rocky Colavito had given the Indians an early lead with a two-run single and, Brown singled home the first Cleveland run. Tiant's sacrifice scored the other.

In the second game, Boswell (3-3) let only one Cleveland runner reach third as he struck out 10 and walked two.

Cincinnati Reds Score 3-2 Over San Francisco

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Pete Rose gets on base for the Cincinnati Reds, that's the signal for Tony Perez to try for a home run — and quite often he succeeds.

The one-two combination worked again Tuesday night when the league-leading Reds scored a 3-2 decision over San Francisco. It was the 10th Reds' game in a row decided by one run and their fifth consecutive victory.

"I pray for Pete Rose to get on base and then I hit a home run," Perez said afterward. "When he gets on base, I say I have to hit a home run."

"The last eight home runs I hit, Pete was on base."

Perez, who leads the Reds with 37 runs batted in, says he is hitting better than ever before because he is not being platooned. Tuesday night's home run was his 12th this season.

"It's different when you play every day. If you don't, you lose your timing," he explained. The Reds scored their runs in the sixth when Vada Pinson broke out a scoreless duel between Milt Pappas and Gaylord Perry with a two-out home run. Rose followed this with a single and then Perez knocked the ball far over the centerfield fence.

Ollice Brown's seventh inning homer gave the Giants one run. Willie McCovey sent Pappas to the showers in the eighth by doubling home Willie Mays, who had reached base on a walk.

Both Cincinnati pitchers said they were using sliders in the game.

"When you go in relief like this you have to throw hard and throw strikes—you don't have time to work on batters' sadi Don Nottebart, who saved the decision for Pappas.

Washington topped Laurelville in Tri-County Loop

Washington tallied two runs in the second, third and fifth frames to roll to a 6-2 win over Laurelville Merchants Tuesday in the Tri-County Little League.

The winners slashed eight hits in the tilt, including a pair of doubles by Gary Francis and solo two base tags by Greg Justus and Randy Kneec.

Francis was the winning hurler for Washington, fanning 14 batters and allowing only two Laurelville hits, a double by Keith Lowery and a single by M. Eveland.

The Washington minor league team thumped Laurelville, 21-4, with Steve Marshall going the winning mound route for Washington.

Ty Ankrom started for the winners and went into the fifth before being pulled in favor of Marsh Barnes. Together they scattered seven hits.

In addition to pitching the win, Ankrom proved his plate worthiness, smacking a homer and a double in four trips. He was aided by Long with a triple and Mike Fuller and Tony Little with two sackers.

Of Butch's seven hits, six were held up at first base. The other clout was a homer by Bill Thomas.

King's High returned $57.00, $12.80 and $6.60 to team up in a 9-4 combination with second race winner Bishop Honor ($5.00) to return $243.00 for the double.

Gene High won the $2,000 feature pace and returned $57.80.

Little League Minor Race Starts with 4-Tilt Card

First National, Savings Bank, Second National and Circleville Oil picked up wins in the first action of the Little League Minors Tuesday.

The First Bankers won a pitchers' duel over Blue Ribbon Dairy, 3-2. Danny Geoglien scored the winning run in the bottom of the last to edge Savings Bank past Rotary, 14-13. The Second Bankers tallied runs in spurts to push past IOOF, 7-2. Wards Market scored ed eight in the last inning but still lost to Circleville Oil, 12-9.

Perri Hoskins of First National and Mark Hoffman of Blue Ribbon locked horns on the mound in their tilt. Hoskins issued three walks, fanned 13 batters and allowed only two hits. Hoffman walked six, struck out 11 and scattered four hits.

Th Bankers crossed the plate first, and after three the score stood at 2-0 in favor of the First National. The Dairy-men tied it up in the bottom of the fourth but the winners came back to score the go-ahead run in the fifth.

BRIAN HERRON tripled for Blue Ribbon, their only hit besides a single. For First National Bob Rose pounded a two bagger.

In the Savings Bank-Rotary tilt the Bankers were outth from the plate, 13-8, but still produced more runs.

For the winners Jeff Keener had two doubles, Danny Geoglien a triple and a single and Mike Sparks a three sacker.

John Radcliff tripled and Randy Thomas homered and doubled for Rotary's only extra batters.

Gary Reed was the winning hurler, going the distance for the Savings Bank. Radcliff started on the mound for Rotary but had to be relieved by Rod Wolfe.

Rotary jumped out to a 10-3 lead through two. It was narrowed to 10-8 after the fourth and Savings Bank went on top, 13-11, after five. In the top of the sixth Rotary marked two to tie it up but Savings Bank came back in their half, with Danny Geoglien crossing the plate for the winning run.

SECOND NATIONAL Bank blanked in the first two frames but exploded for four in the third. Following an unproductive fourth they again came back for three in the fifth.

IOOF tallied single runs in the fourth and sixth for their pair of markers.

Phil Roll hit and pitched his way to the win for the Second Bankers, crashing a pair of two baggers and combining with Mike Speakman for the mound win. Together they walked six and fanned 15.

Loyd Phillips, No. 1 draft choice of the Chicago Bears, will be tried at defensive end during summer drills. At Arkansas he played end, tackle and linebacker.

Grady Overton, 27, of Hardisty, Okla., won his first major stake race at the New Orleans Fair Grounds last winter. He rode Backbiter.

Mets Win Two from Pittsburgh

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Face it—the Pittsburgh Pirates did—the New York Mets are not patsies when it comes to extra inning games.

The lowly Mets took the field for a doubleheader in Pittsburgh Tuesday night without having scored a run in 18 innings.

They ran this string to 27 before winning the first game 1-0 in 10 innings and then came right back to take the nightcap 3-2, also in 10 innings, giving them a 6-0 record in extra-inning games this season.

The loser both times—Elroy Face.

Houston beat St. Louis, Cincinnati edged San Francisco and Atlanta edged Los Angeles, each by a 3-2 score, and Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 8-6 and 9-8 in other National League action.

In the American League, Detroit clobbered Kansas City 11-1 and 7-1; the New York Yankees downed Washington 7-1; Boston topped the Chicago White Sox 5-3; Cleveland and Minnesota split, Cleveland winning the first game 6-4 in 10 innings and losing the nightcap 7-1, and Baltimore trounced California twice, 16-4 and 11-1.

"The boys seem to play better when the games are closer and longer," said Mets' Manager Wes Westrum.

For Face, who had started the night with a 4-0 record, they were too close and too long.

The veteran relief ace took over in each game after the starting pitcher had been lifted for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning.

In the first game he gave up a single to Tommy Davis, a single to Jerry Buchek, which moved Davis to third, and Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly. He was greeted by Ron Swoboda's home run in the nightcap.

Swoboda tripled home the Mets' first run in the second inning and scored the second one in the fourth when he doubled and raced all the way home after the ball slipped away from center fielder Matty Alou.

The Pirates scored on Willie Stargell's two-run triple in the third.

Mets' rookie right-hander Tom Seaver was hit by a pitch on his right elbow in the seventh inning of the opener. X rays proved negative.

A two-run homer by John Bateman and Jim Wynn's solo shot powered Houston past St. Louis. Mike Shannon hit a bases-empty homer for St. Louis.

Cincinnati also got a two-run homer—by Tony Perez—and a bases-empty shot—by Vada Pinson—in beating San Francisco for its fifth straight victory, each by one run. Ollie Brown hit a solo homer for the Giants.

Two intentional walks to Atlanta's Hank Aaron proved to be Los Angeles' downfall.

Joe Torre singled home Mack Jones following a walk to Aaron in the sixth inning and then broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth by singling in Jones again after another pass to Aaron.

Denny Lemaster, added by two bases-loaded double plays, won his sixth game against one loss although he yielded 12 hits.

Philadelphia won each of its games in the eighth inning on hits by veteran Johnny Callison and seldom-used reserve Phil Linz.

Callison's two-out, two-run single broke a 6-6 tie in the first game. Linz' two-out single broke an 8-8 tie by capping a three-run rally in the second game.

Richie Allen hit a two-run homer for the Phillies in the second game. Randy Hundley and Adolfo Phillips homered for the Cubs in the opener.

Catcher Bob Uecker, who drove in three runs with a double for the Phillies in the nightcap, was traded after the game to Atlanta for catcher-first baseman Gene Oliver.

Lowry Column
By GENE HANDSAKER
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If there's a trend in television, Bruce Geller notes, it's a trend away from trends.

Even among Westerns — "Rawhide," "the Westerner," "Laramie," "Road West" and "Johnny Ringo" — only the durable "Gunsmoke," "Bonanza" and "Virginian" remain in production — plus fall's upcoming "High Chaparral" and "Dundee."

Medicine shows? "Medic," "Kildare," "Casey," "General Hospital," "Doctors and Nurses" have faded.

Private-detective programs like "Richard Diamond" and "Tightrope" have tiptoed away, leaving only "Mannix," a new show which Geller is producing for fall.

As Geller sees it, "Get Smart," starring Don Adams as a bumbling hero, sparked a recent trend to zany, unreal comedies including "Captain Nice" and "Mr. Terrific." Adams won an Emmy last Sunday, but the other two shows and their bungling supermen won't be back.

The trend-away-from-trends, says Geller, is good.

"Trends are nice for advertising agencies and sponsors. Trends allow you not to use your decision-making mind. Agencies and sponsors figure, 'If it's like 'Bonanza,' it's got to be good.'"

Geller, a swarthy, cool 36, carried off two Emmys at Sunday night's ceremonies as executive producer of "Mission: Impossible" and writer of one of its segments. The show captured awards also for best actress — Barbara Bain — and film editing, the four winning categories making it second only to Brigadoon's five.

Geller classifies "Mission: Impossible" as intrigue-adventure.

What's distinctive about it? The spectacular, studios-looking producer, a onetime high school salutatorian and Yale drama major, analyzes: "It's a filmic show, with not much dialogue, with an editorial style that's far closer to new-wave features than most TV shows. It's a pure-story in which we say roughly three times as much as most shows."

"Everything happens from the show's start — we're not much involved with what happened before we went on the air. And we have a great cast of actors."

"Traditionally, actors like the heavy roles because they're more meaty. But our heroes do what criminals ordinarily do. If we rob a bank or a casino, it's because they're crooked. If we have a jail break, it's to get a good man out of prison."

If Westerns seem the hardest of trends, Geller said: "Some of the best work has been done in Westerns. They're a staple."

DRIVER OF YEAR—The 1967 Truck Driver-of-the-Year, James A. Martin (above), has been a pro for only six years but has logged half a million miles with a perfect record. Martin, 33, is from Granville, Ohio. He drives for B & L Motor Freight of Newark, Ohio. Last Thanksgiving Day he was the key figure in rescue of four persons from a stalled auto near Plymouth, Ind., seconds before it was demolished by a 34-car freight train.

Jerusalem Marriage Plan Turns into Run for Life

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A young Mexican couple came to Jerusalem to fulfill their vow to marry in the Holy City. Instead they almost got killed by the bullets and bombs of the Arab-Israeli war.
"We were machine-gunned by planes, bullets whizzed past, bombs exploded so near we were covered in dust," said Eliaz Guzman, a 38-year-old bookseller from Mexico City. "We were lucky to get out unscathed."
"We have looked forward to our marriage in Jerusalem for such a long time," said his petite bride, Guadalupe Morande. "We came all this way, and then..."
They saw Roman Catholic Patriarch Alberto Gair only long enough for him to absolve them from their vow to solemnize their civil marriage a year ago with a religious ceremony in Jerusalem.
Mrs. Guzman was still wearing her black lace wedding dress when she and her husband arrived in Amman Tuesday after a harrowing trip from Jerusalem.
"We were still at the patriarchate when fighting broke all around us," Guzman said. Fortunately, some good nuns escorted us to our hotel outside the Old City.

6-Year-Old Dies When Home Burns

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A 6-year-old boy, one of a family's 10 children and a twin, died early Wednesday when fire destroyed the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Morgan of Lima's near east side.
The boy, Samuel, was found dead in an upstairs bedroom, apparently overlooked in the haste and excitement of escaping from the house, authorities said.

Martha Dountz, 220 N. Pickaway St., reported to City Police that someone had broken the radio antenna off her automobile Tuesday.

Cleveland Area Power Failure Is Under Probe

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. said an intensive investigation is being conducted into the smashing of insulators that brought down four high-voltage transmission lines in North Olmsted early today.
Power was knocked out to six Cleveland suburbs—Berea, Parma, Brook Park, North Royalton, Independence and Seven Hills.
The outage lasted only 11 minutes before the power load was switched to other lines, a CEI spokesman said.
The spokesman reported that the 132,000-volt transmission lines were situated 80 to 100 feet above the ground, and the four porcelain insulators were smashed at intervals of 10 to 45 minutes starting at 1:51 a.m.
The Utility Workers Union has been on strike against the CEI since May 1.

2 Are Eligible For Celina Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The names of Thomas A. Zender, Grant J. Cook and John O. Garman have been placed on a list of those eligible for the Celina, Ohio, postmastership. The Civil Service Commission reported Tuesday the three were selected from 24 applicants for the $8,345-a-year job. One of them may be nominated by President Johnson, subject to Senate confirmation.

Duke and Duchess Attend Royal Ceremony at Last

LONDON (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor took part in a public show of harmony today with other members of the British royal family. A London crowd cheered and applauded.
The little scene was played a few moments after the former King Edward VIII had seen his niece, reigning Queen Elizabeth II, unveil a memorial to his mother.
As the two-minute ceremony ended the queen walked over to the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, who 30 years ago had cost a king his throne.
Smiling broadly, they chatted together with the duke. After the monarch and her husband, Prince Philip, drove away, Queen Mother Elizabeth, widow of King George VI, came to chat with the Windsors.
The crowd cheered again when, as she was going, the duke leaned forward and kissed the queen mother, his sister-in-law, on the cheek.
The duke and duchess were applauded as they drove off to make preparations for returning to their Paris home.
The memorial ceremony was a nostalgic occasion for those who recalled King Edward's abdication in 1936. It brought about the first official visit to England, by palace invitation, for the duke and the American wife for whom he gave up the throne. It was the first public ceremony ever attended in England by the duchess with members of the royal family.

Jerusalem Marriage Plan Turns into Run for Life

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A young Mexican couple came to Jerusalem to fulfill their vow to marry in the Holy City. Instead they almost got killed by the bullets and bombs of the Arab-Israeli war.

"We were machine-gunned by planes, bullets whizzed past, bombs exploded so near we were covered in dust," said Eliaz Guzman, a 38-year-old book-seller from Mexico City. "We were lucky to get out unscathed."

"We have looked forward to our marriage in Jerusalem for such a long time," said his petite bride, Guadeloupe Morande. "We came all this way, and then..."

They saw Roman Catholic Patriarch Alberto Gair only long enough for him to absolve them from their vow to solemnize their civil marriage a year ago with a religious ceremony in Jerusalem.

Mrs. Guzman was still wearing her black lace wedding dress when she and her husband arrived in Amman Tuesday after a harrowing trip from Jerusalem.

"We were still at the patriarchate when fighting broke all around us," Guzman said. Fortunately, some good nuns escorted us to our hotel outside the Old City.

"An American television correspondent was fatally wounded by a bullet while standing in the lobby of the hotel minutes after we arrived."

He was Ted Yates of NBC. During a lull in the firing Monday night, the couple took a car for Amman.

"We were only a few miles from Jerusalem when we were forced to stop when we came across a line of burning military trucks in the road," Guzman said. "Before we realized what was happening a soldier shouted to us to take cover as Israeli planes were still attacking the convoys."

"We jumped from our car and ran into the fields for cover as jet planes roared low overhead, splattering the roadway with bullets. Some of the bullets fell a few feet from us."

The couple spent the night in Jericho after driving for 30 miles without lights, then made their way to Amman early the next morning.

Oswald Quinn, a white-haired American tourist from Sacramento, Calif., traveled to Amman in the car with the Mexican couple.

"You should have seen it in Jerusalem," Quinn said. "I was pinned standing against the wall near the hotel while machine gun bullets kicked up the dust less than four feet from me."

Quinn said he was standing next to Yates when the NBC television producer was shot.

"I went to Jerusalem because my tourist agent told me it would be all right," said Quinn.
